Wells takes 13-year fall for heavy cocaine dealing

by GLORIA DAVIS

Despite the fact that his father, former State Trooper and Antioch Police Chief Jack Wells testified that his son was a law abiding citizen and had never done anything like this before, John Wells, Jr., 45, was sentenced to 13 years in prison for selling a kilo of 99 percent pure cocaine to undercover agents.

To combat the testimony of Wells, Sr., prosecuting States Atty. Jeff Pavletic put undercover Ill. State Policeman Alfred Wellbank on the stand during last week's trial in Lake County Court. Wellbank was one of the agents Wells had sold not only the cocaine to, but he testified that on a variety of occasions, Wells had told him that he had access to stolen weapons and was able to move a 100 pounds of marijuana a month.

Wells plead guilty to the drug-dealing charge when Pavletic promised not to ask for more than a 20-year sentence.

Pavletic said that Wells, Sr.'s testimony was an effort to get his son a less severe sentence. Other testimony pointed out the fact that the package of cocaine in question was stamped with a Columbian family seal which meant Wells was deep into drug dealing.

Wells was also charged with selling agents two stolen automobiles and tranquilizers.

Wells will not come up for parole for at least six-and-one-half years.

He was arrested and had delivered cocaine with a street value of $200,000 to undercover agents at the Chain O'Lakes State Park on Rte. 173 last June.

Wells was arrested and imprisoned in Lake County jail, held under a $1 million cash bond.

When sentencing Wells, Lake County Judge John Goshgarian said that "the sentence reflects the seriousness of the crime. I haven't seen a homicide in the last year that wasn't in some way drug related."

Hitting the trails

Snowmobilers are out in force in January's arctic deep freeze. Paths for snowmobilers are plentiful in northeastern Illinois and southeastern Wisconsin. Some private landowners make paths available and Lake County Forest Preserve has ample open space available for snowmobile enthusiasts. Before going on private land, though, make sure to check with owner.—Photo by John Doetsch

Threat precedes finding of pipe bomb

by GLORIA DAVIS

The owner of a home on David St. in Antioch found a large pipe bomb in front of his residence after he had received a phone threat two days before warning that his home would be burned.

The Antioch police called in the Fort Sheridan bomb squad and the Federal Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms agency.

The bomb squad transported the bomb to Thelen Gravel Pit on Rte. 173 where it was disassembled.

The bomb was seven inches in length by one inch in diameter. According to Antioch Police Lt. Tom Fisher, it was filled with black powder, packed with clay and attached to a plastic gallon jug of liquid that the police have assumed is gasoline.

Both the Antioch police and the federal agency are investigating the incident.

Steal van with motor running

With the mercury plummeting, Antioch police warn motorists not to leave a running vehicle unattended in an effort to get the engine warm.

A Richmond motorist has learned the folly of this practice since his 1985 white Chevrolet van was stolen on Monday evening when he left it running in a strip mall parking lot at the intersection of Rtes. 173 and 83 in Antioch.

The vehicle was stolen as the owner ran into one of the stores at 7 p.m.

C. Joseph LaFleur, W.M. of Sequoit Masonic Lodge 827 A.F. and A.M., Antioch, has announced that members of the lodge have completed the distribution of $75 food gift certificates to area families in need. The gift certificates are redeemable at the Piggly Wiggly Store.

The lodge commissioned a local artist to produce ceramic Christmas trees which were distributed to hospitalized persons, shut-ins and elderly persons.

A total of 30 ceramic trees were produced. Ten were given to the VA Hospital in North Chicago, 10 were given to the Eastern Star for distribution, and 10 were distributed to members of Sequoit Lodge.

This is the second year in which the lodge opted to provide gift certificates redeemable for food in lieu of the more traditional basket of foodstuffs.

Prairie geology program to feature CLC expert

Dr. Ronald A. Riepe, geology professor at the College of Lake County, will be on hand at the Edward L. Ryerson Conservation Area on Sunday, Jan. 17 for a fireside program on prairie geology. Participants will have the chance to learn about the wide variety of local prairies and how people have been interacting with them.

"Our Illinois prairies are a direct result of the way the Rocky Mountains change air flow across America," said Riepe. "Vestiges of these vast grasslands still reflect geological factors."

"After taking a course with Ron, you find yourself looking at the local landscape in a real different way," said a Ryerson naturalist. "Driving down Rte. 45 or any other road is now a drive through the geological past. He gives you a whole different perspective on something that used to be familiar."

Riepe has taught at the College of Lake County for 15 years and is steward of their 10-acre prairie.

The indoor program is from 2 to 4 p.m. at the preserve's Visitor Center, located on Riverwoods Road in Deerfield. Reservations are suggested and can be made by calling (312) 948-7750. The program is 50 cents for Lake County residents and $1 for non-residents.

Strenger, president of the Lake County Forest Preserve District.

"Programs like these help people to understand the need to preserve these important lands."

Council accredits agency

Central Baptist Children's Home of Lake Villa has just received a Certificate of Accreditation from the Council on Accreditation of Services for Families and Children, according to an announcement by Donald E. Mertic, executive director.

"Accreditation, which is for a four-year period, attests that an agency has met a set of nationally-established requirements which help ensure quality service," said David Shover, Council on Accreditation director. "Accreditation provides assurance," he said, "that the agency is performing services which the community needs, conducting its operations effectively, and managing its funds wisely."

The procedure involves a detailed examination of the agency's operation, which includes a self-study by the agency and a visit by a Council team of reviewers.

Central Baptist Children's Home, a child-welfare agency founded in 1895, provides foster family care, adoption services, crisis intervention services for teenagers, and child and family counseling services in Lake and McHenry Counties, and day care services at its Busy Bee Day Care Center in Waukegan.

The Council on Accreditation of Services for Families and Children, with headquarters in New York City, accredits private voluntary and proprietary agencies as well as local direct service public agencies. It accredits over 540 agencies in the United States and Canada, and is the only independent accrediting body providing quality assurance over a broad range of family and children's services.

Jacobs participates in annual MS spelloff contest

Adrian Tandez, 17, a junior at St. Gregory High School, 1677 W. Bryn Mawr Ave., Chicago, took first place in the MS Word Encounters oral spelloff finals, Dec. 12 at Glenbard North High School, Carol Stream. As the top speller in the senior high division of the competition offered by the Chicago-Northern Illinois Chapter, National Multiple Sclerosis Society, Tandez won a $1,000 scholarship donated by Walgreens.

Top winner in the junior high spelloff held Dec. 5 at Friendship Junior High, Des Plaines, was Tim Yu, 13, eighth grader at Wilmette Junior High. Tim earned a $200 savings bond.

Students qualified for the oral spelloffs by taking written spelling tests in their schools. The best speller from each school became a finalist. Funds were earned for multiple sclerosis research and community services through pledges made for each word spelled correctly on the initial written test.

All finalists on senior and junior high levels received trophies.

"Brown Bag" lunch is at noon. Coffee and cake will be served for a charge of 50 cents per person.

There will be a bake sale at this meeting and Sophie Trembay has requested members to support this effort by bringing homemade bakery items such as cakes, cookies, pies or bread.

Troop 92 takes high national, district honors in '87

At its final Court of Honor for 1987, Antioch's Boy Scout Troop 92 honored its Scouts, leaders and members of the Antioch community who gave special support to its 1987 activities.

Troop 92 earned the 1987 National BSA Quality Award and the National BSA Camping Award. In Lakes Dist. events, Troop 92 patrols took first and second place in the Klondike Derby, third and sixth place in the First Aid meet, and first and third place in the Fall Camporee.

In other district activities, Troop 92 won first place in the Scout Week window display at the Antioch Twp. Library and it received an award for Early Bird Troop registration.

Without consistent support and strong leadership from Troop 92 families and committee members, troop activities and achievements would be substantially reduced. In recognition of their distinguished participation, a number of Troop 92 leaders were recognized.

For his 12 years as Troop 92 Scoutmaster, Bernie Dost received as a retirement gift a portrait painted by Barb Goetzelman. In addition, Bernie and Gerry Dost received gifts of luggage from the Mother's Auxiliary and the Eagle Scouts. Dost plans to remain active as assistant Scoutmaster.

Other Scout leaders honored were Harold Clark, current treasurer retiring as committee chairman; Gordon DeBoer retiring as Treasurer after 24 years in Troop 92; Assistant Scoutmasters Bob Brown, James Bruski and Bill Goetzelman; Mother's Auxiliary President Alice Paschke; committee member Kent Ravens; Scouting coordinator Ron Rock; Carol Ann Weston and Assistant Scoutmaster Dick Weston. Assistant Scoutmaster Tom Aschbacher was acknowledged for having received the Order of the Arrow Award.

Also honored were Antioch area organizations and individuals who provided special support to Troop 92: Loyal Order of the Moose Lodge 525, Troop 92's sponsor; A to Z Rental; Andrew C.

Lynch; Mike Sexton and Antioch Auto Parts; Betty Rivkin; Classic

Auto Repair; Corbin's

Travel Agency; First National Bank of Antioch; Gerkin's Egg Farm; Gonnella Baking Co.; Happ's Farmstand;

Jackie's Hallmark Cards; JJ Blinker's; Piggly Wiggly; Walter

Paramski and Rainbow Trailer Park; Saint Peter's Council of Catholic Women; State Bank of Antioch; and John Kakacek.

In addition, Troop 92 thanked all other Antioch area supporters who contributed to the Troop's success in 1987. As Troop 92 looks forward to an active and successful 1988, it continues to welcome the donation of newspapers (no books, magazines, cardboard or slick print ads) and aluminum cans at the VFW trailer near the sawmill.

Distinguished portrait

Bernie Dost, Scoutmaster for Troop 92 for 12 years, accepts portrait of himself painted by Barbara Goetzelman. Portrait was given in honor of Dost's 'distinguished service as Scoutmaster' for over a decade.

Holidays over, time to start new year right

by CAROLYN HAMMOND
(312)395-6081

Things are back to normal. The kids are in school, the spouse is at work, and the wind chill factor is -40 degrees.

Seems like the bad 1987 weather continues. It would be nice to be able to stay home and hibernate, but that's what you were supposed to do during the past two weeks.

Didn't you get your fill of tv, football games, (kids), reading, and sleeping late? No? Well, it's a new year now: time to "stiffen your lip" and put those New Year's resolutions to work. It's time to start that diet, start that exercise program, start that...

For more information call (312)395-2160 during business hours. (A little bird relates that interested girls occasionally have been included on the teams.)

Special to Glenda Tomaschik, Antioch Parks and Recreation Director: Thanks for all your good work and help over the past nine years. Best of luck in your new duties at KBRX Radio in O'Neill, Nebraska. You will be missed!

Resolved: Not to miss the scrumptious dinners put on by local groups. Such as:

The Northern Illinois Conservation Club will present another in their series of Door County, Wis., style "Fish Boil Dinner" from 5 to 9 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 16 at My Brother's Place, 25855 W. Rte. 173. The cost is $6 per adult and $4 for children 12 and under. Pie and coffee are included with the dinner. Advance tickets are requested, but tickets are also available at the door. For reservations and more information call N.I.C.C. at (312)395-6422.

A "Ribs n' Bibs" dinner will be presented for the benefit of St. Peter's School Athletic Program from 5 to 8 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 16 at St. Peter Catholic Church Social Center. Tickets are $6.50 for adults; $3.50 for children. Some alcoholic beverages will be available.

Another good resolution for parents of Antioch Upper Grade students would be to attend the next AUGS Parent/Principal Coffee at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Jan. 13. This is a very good way to keep yourself informed about your child's educational program. Group size will be kept small and informal to insure each parents' questions can be answered. Please call the AUGS office (312)395-1905 on or before Monday, Jan. 11 for an appointment. Refreshments will be served.

The Antioch Junior Women's Club, now in its first full year, will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 12 at the First National Bank of Antioch, 485 Lake St.

Special speaker will be State Rep. Robert Churchill. The Antioch Junior Women's Club is a non-profit service organization and welcomes local women to attend. This month members are asked to bring brown paper grocery sacks for donation to the Antioch Food Pantry. For more information call: (312)395-4104 or (312)395-2147.

Stanley goes to Europe

Carolyn Stanley, a native of Antioch, was one of 140 Augustana College students to take part in the 1987 Augustana Quarter program. Stanley returned in mid-November from the 11-week travel/study program which took the students to London, Munich, Strasbourg and other European cities.

While on European Quarter, Stanley studied "Baroque and Rococo Art," "Early Modern England," "History of Modern Christianity," "Comparative Readings of Arthurian Literature," and "Aspects of European Culture" under six Augustana faculty members.

Stanley also had a 10-day break mid-way through the quarter and was free to travel with friends throughout Europe.

Stanley, a senior majoring in accounting, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Stanley of Antioch.

Appoint Knirsch, Whitton

In accordance with the by-laws, the executive board has appointed as co-directors of the museum, Roberta Knirsch and Carol Whitton. They have unselfishly devoted much of their time to cataloging, preparing and arranging exhibits, planning special events, etc. It's time they had official status and a title to go along with the work. Until the pay is better--our grateful thanks to Roberta and Carol--and don't hesitate to call on us for help," said Lucille Kuechenmeister, Society President.

The next meeting will be Thursday, Jan. 28 at the museum at 7:30 p.m. Earl Beese will present a program based on his experiences on board a naval warship as the guest of his son-in-law and the U.S. Navy. Sounds like a once in a lifetime experience.

have asked for a call for artifacts. The museum is especially looking for war posters, a small Victorian table, a plant stand suitable for a fern, and anything from the Korean War. If there is anyone with an unfulfilled urge to replace glass and do some refinishing work on some cabinets, they can satisfy this urge by calling the society and volunteering their talents.

Scouts share in Circle of Warmth

Registered Girl Scouts from Antioch, Lake Villa, Lindenhurst and Millburn generated a radiance of love and generosity at the December Circle of Warmth held at the Millburn Congregational United Church of Christ. This area activity provided an opportunity for Girl Scouts to help less fortunate families enjoy Christmas.

children. Each child received a sweater and a bag of goodies donated by the Antioch McDonald's, and the parents received gift certificates. The children also received toys donated by Ben Franklin in Lindenhurst and Gifts by D&D, a local business.

A needy family in Antioch was given a specially decorated Christmas tree. Each Girl Scout provided an ornament for the artificial tree, which was donated by the Cowart family of Antioch, whose daughter is a Senior Girl Scout.

The Scouts also donated mittens to Catholic Charities.

The Girl Scout Area Committee for Antioch, Lake Villa, Lindenhurst and Millburn sponsor events throughout the year to enable girls of neighboring towns to meet for a common cause and share with each other the world of Girl Scouting.

Medical statistics don't paint the whole picture

The first 1988 luncheon meeting of our Congenital Doctors Group was not off to a very cheerful start. Whinerk was full of gloom and doom. "They're getting worse by the minute."

"They haven't even brought the food yet," said Synik. "It's usually pretty good, or we wouldn't keep coming back."

"You all know what I mean. The computer freaks are gathering statistics and selling it to the hospitals. They are so constructed that to the unsophisticated public it appears that one doctor is better or 'preferred' rather than another based on what procedures or tests he ordered in a given period of time. Actually they mean he's cheaper. The hospitals are hurrying to accept this in order to stave off further government criticism that not enough is being done to control costs."

Medical Musings

By Dr. Leo Tannenbaum

Bopal chimed in, "Let's not omit the predicted disclosures of hospital statistics that some hospitals have a greater than reasonable number of deaths of Medicare patients."

Whinerk continued, "Actually, the hospitals were hit with a low blow there. The government was gathering the statistics and intended to use them exactly like the consumer groups wanted. Mr. Roper, head of Medicare, implied that the study is useful, then covered himself by saying it's 'imperfect.' With the advance publicity that it would really tell good care from bad, everyone waited with baited breath.

"The figures had to be released under the Freedom of Information Act," he continued. "Common sense tells us that the 'imperfection' making figures less than meaningful is that the hospitals are different, patients admitted are different, and if another time period was picked to evaluate the performances, all the results would be different. They're comparing apples and oranges."

Synik said, "There's a feeling that I've seen this before in a tv courtroom drama. A lawyer accuses a witness of being a liar or a criminal. The other lawyer objects and the judge sustains the objection, telling the jury to disregard the statement. It doesn't erase the statement from the jury's mind at all. Sadly, the newspapers have grabbed it and are running as if it were the gospel; people believe what they read."

Yungfren offered, "I've read five articles on the subject. A typical column had as its title, 'Lax Care Tied to Death Rates at Hospitals.' It goes on for about 600 words mentioning a Rand Corp. study as featured in a prestigious medical journal. Like others, it stresses 'preventable deaths'; some call them 'unnecessary deaths.' The very last word of the column says the government acknowledges (with the study) that the data were 'imperfect.' But that very same sentence using the word 'imperfect' says it hopes it would provide the public a way of assessing care. How in the world do you use imperfect figures to evaluate medical care?"

Oltimer had cogent words on the subject. "I had plenty of time early in my practice. The wife and I went for Christmas dinner to a classmate in a nearby town. Taking over the practice of a retired doctor made him much busier than I who had started from scratch. Of course, he had many seniors as patients inherited from the old doctor. Mine were a mixed age group; patients hadn't yet had time to grow old with me. I asked my friend how many of his patients had died. He estimated about one or two a month.

"That's about 18 in the last year. My God, old buddy, anybody who comes to you is in great danger. I haven't had a single death," I teased. Of course, I knew his patients were old; some would die.

My friend looked at me thoughtfully. "Not so, old buddy, it's the other way around. Statistics will catch up with you. There's only a week left to this year. Anybody that has the misfortune to take up with you is doomed."

That evening, after we drove home, the phone began to ring. The father of a young patient had his third stroke. A young woman was on her way to the hospital with a premature delivery pending. An aged lady who had coughed all her life hadn't seen any difference between that and her present terminal pneumonia. Her neighbors were bringing her to the hospital. Counting the one pound premature baby, I had three deaths in four hours.

Musings: Medical care is caught between a rock and a hard place. Good care is expensive; if less costly, it may be of poor quality. Let's step back, stop finger pointing. "Unnecessary deaths," hard to define, can't be done by a think tank like Rand, which hasn't even seen the patients.

Religious rights of the majority need protection

by ELEANOR BEEMSTERBOER

"When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume, among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to separation. We hold these truths to be self-evident: That all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their creator with certain inalienable rights."

This quote from the first two sentences of the Declaration of Independence emphasize the fact that our United States of America is based upon a fundamental belief in a Supreme Being.

"Article I: Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, prohibiting the free exercise thereof..."

That is all that is contained within the first amendment to the Constitution of the United States of America in reference to religion. In other words, there would not be any interference with or establishment of religion of the state.

Nowhere are the words "separation of church and state" used. It simply states that "Congress must not become involved in making laws concerning

Many senior citizens have heard about the Pharmaceutical Assistance Program. The program helps eligible participants pay for their heart, blood pressure, diabetes and arthritis medications.

To qualify, individuals must be 65 years of age or older; a resident of Illinois; have a household income of less than $14,000; and reside in an Illinois residence or nursing home that is subject to property tax or in a mobile home subject to the local service task.

Senior citizens can apply for this optional program at the same time as filling out their regular Circuit Breaker application by signing their name to the "Optional Pharmaceutical Assistance Program" box. To join, there is an annual fee of $80 payable to the Illinois Dept. of Revenue.

Joiners will receive a plastic card which can be taken to their pharmacist together with their prescriptions for the specific medications. The pharmacist will fill the prescriptions and bill the State for the costs. Not all pharmacies participate in this program.

Before one can participate, however, they must sign a statement turning over to the State of Illinois any benefits which might otherwise be claimed under any private insurance plans or any public program for assistance in purchasing the specific drugs.

For answers to questions about the Pharmaceutical Assistance Program, call the Illinois Dept. of Revenue toll free, 1-800-732-8866.

Fraud victims

People who feel they have been victimized have the right under Illinois law to complain. Call, write, or visit the nearest Attorney General's office. If uncertain or need special assistance with information regarding the complaint, contact any of the regional offices or dial the toll-free number, 1-800-252-8666.

The sooner the Attorney General's office is contacted, the sooner we can provide assistance. When filling out the complaint form, be sure to provide all relevant information. Do not leave anything out. Be sure to include copies of all contracts and pertinent documents, keeping the originals. Sign the complaint and return it to us. When the complaint is received, it will be reviewed to determine if it falls within our jurisdiction. If it does, you will be notified by mail and a file will be opened in our office. If not, we will refer it to the proper city, state, or federal agency for action. We may suggest that a private attorney is retained.

Complaints which fall within our jurisdiction usually can be resolved through mediation. If the complaint cannot be resolved through mediation, our office may find it necessary to file a lawsuit asking for money back for defrauded consumers and/or penalties for the business. A court order may also be obtained prohibiting the business from engaging in the practice which covered the problem.

Credit card protection

Several credit card companies offer services of protection in the event of lost or stolen credit cards. Accepting a service of this type from a credit card company would have to be strictly the consumer's decision. The Attorney General does not endorse nor discourage consumers from participating in business activities.

Specific services, such as credit card protection, are becoming another facet of credit card companies. When someone signs up for this service, the company gets a list of their credit cards and account numbers. In the event of loss or theft, they notify each company and will sometimes assume liability for the $50 charge limit.

In considering buying such a service, it is recommended that buyers determine the likelihood and frequency of use and whether or not it is a needed service.

Ryan turns family silver into gold

by IRIS MAYFIELD

Has it been luck of the draw, luck of the Irish, or no luck at all that's kept Lyons-Ryan Ford in business for 20 years?

"I wasn't born with a silver spoon in my mouth," says the robust Irish General Manager Pat Ryan. The dealership's growth from a one-lot operation on Main St. to a sprawling dealership at 104 Rt. 173 in Antioch, intimates something more than luck-like business acumen and hard work.

In 1957, Ryan's father and uncle purchased the dealership which sat where King's Pharmacy is. In 1967 they moved to Rt. 173. Pat Ryan, the only son of three children worked on the wash rack when he was 12.

In 1976, at 26, he became general manager. Four years later, an addition was built of four sales offices, five or six clerical offices and one conference room.

Boasting the family's ethnicity, a huge, green shamrock is displayed in the showroom window and on their business cards.

Ryan reluctantly reflected on the recession of the late '70s and the high interest rates of the early '80s that pushed some dealerships over the edge. "We had to continue the same service and the same standards with lower sales," he said, adding, "We had to let a few people go, across the board."

Dressed casually in a sports coat and an open-necked shirt, Ryan said, "We're trying to change the way people look at the traditional car dealership."

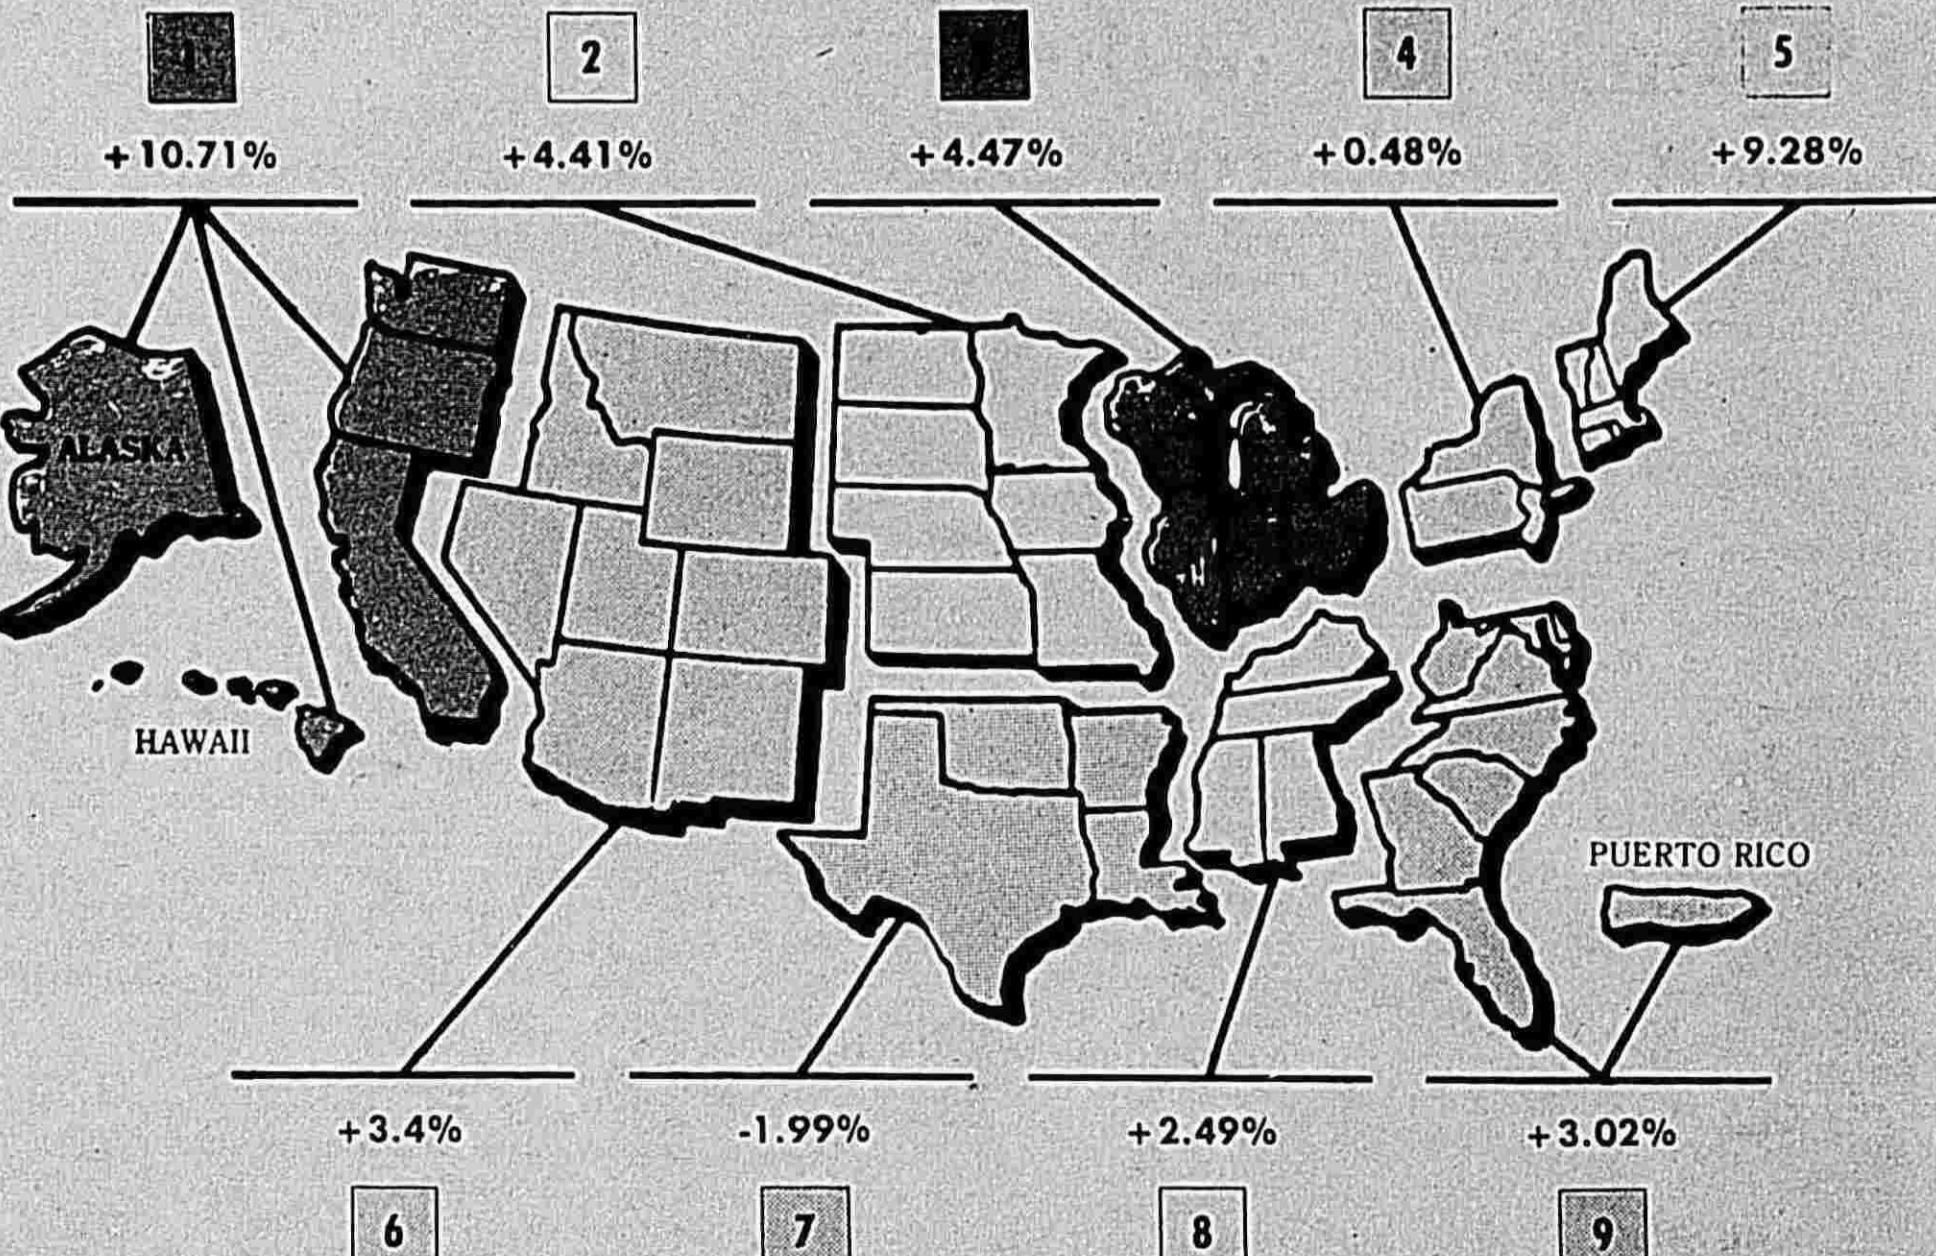

Ryan boasted about their quick-service program, started in March 1986. Ryan says he wants to become the complete auto facility where customers come for any type of service. "We have a lifetime muffler guarantee, same type of guarantee as Midas," he says. He further boasted about their ability to service all makes of motor homes, pick-ups and school buses. He said this was possible because of the custom pipe-bending machine.

1988 CONSTRUCTION INDUSTRY FORECAST FOR ALL CONSTRUCTION OTHER THAN HOME BUILDING

1987-88 Predicted Change

Construction slowdown

The Associated General Contractors of America (AGC) say that construction boom of 1983 through 1985 are over. With all construction showing increases of 16.8 percent in 1983, 33.4 percent in 1984, and 23.3 percent in 1985, it has since lagged at slightly over 4.5 percent for 1986 and 1987. AGC members predict only a 4.23 percent increase in 1988.

Graphic shows predicted change for each region. North East Central Region, which includes Illinois and Wisconsin, is expected to run just ahead of national average with increase of 4.47 percent. AGC includes contractors from all sectors, including building, highway construction, municipal utilities, and heavy industrial construction.

NIMC breaks ground for radiation therapy center

NIMED Corporation held a ground-breaking for a radiation therapy facility, the Northern Illinois Center for Cancer Care. The new facility, designed by Matthei and Colin Associates, will be situated on the southwest corner of the Northern Illinois Medical Center (NIMC) campus, McHenry, and will connect with the NIMED Professional Arts Building via an existing corridor.

To blend with the existing buildings on the campus, a warm brown brick exterior will match the Professional Arts Building, and the canopy structure will echo the other canopies at the Center.

Patients will enter the building on the south side of the Professional Arts Building, and a generously-sized waiting room with large windows will provide patient comfort.

The staff areas include a business office, two consultant offices, a staff lounge, conference room, skylit nurses station and a support space for the treatment room. Patient areas include two exam rooms, dressing rooms and a gowned waiting room. A radiation simulator room will "mock-up" patient treatment prior to actually performing the procedure. James Gagnon, MD, and Geoffrey Smoron, MD, are the radiology oncologists for the facility.

A new 22-space parking lot will serve the facility, and independent power, heating and cooling will be provided.

According to Ernest Rich, Chairman of the NIMED Corporation, the building will open in fall 1988. Seventy-five outpatients are projected for the first year, and 250 patients are expected in the first five years.

The number of cancers that can be cured is rising every day, and radiation therapy plays an important part. In 1980 136,000 cancer patients were reported to be free of the disease for five years or more after having radiation treatments alone or combined with other therapies.

By carefully aiming and timing the high-energy rays, doctors use radiation as an effective tool in cancer treatment. Half of all people with cancer are treated with it at some point. For many of these patients, RT is the only kind of therapy needed to destroy the cancer. In cases of advanced disease, when a cure of the cancer is not likely, radiation therapy can still bring a large measure of relief. Many patients find the quality of their lives improved when RT is used to shrink tumors and reduce pressure, bleeding, pain or other symptoms.

Patients are referred to a cancer specialist (radiation therapist) by their family doctor, who will not advise such treatment unless it is strongly believed that it will control the disease or offer relief from the symptoms.

Paul Laudick, president of Northern Illinois Medical Center, states that having the cancer care center on the NIMC campus will be convenient to patients in the area who have been traveling to Elgin or Chicago for such treatment, a fact which touches not only the patients but the friends and family who have been challenged with transporting patients to and from other cancer treatment centers.

If the business was handed to him on a silver platter, he's turned it into gold. The dealership is 30,000 square feet, with 500 cars on the lot; 24 clean, well-ventilated stalls in the service department and eight stalls in the quality-control room.

In a self-satisfied manner, Ryan says, "The key point is finding good employees, the right group of people at the right time."

His wife Susan and he have three children, Tara, 12, Patrick, 3, and Michael, one and a half - three shamrocks for Ryan.

Office rental trend moving toward lessor's market

The major prediction for 1988 in Chicago's north suburban office marketplace will be the ending of the tenants' market which provided tenants with the opportunity to obtain substantial concessions for new office leases, forecasts Charles Lamphere, executive vice president, Van Vlissingen and Co., Lincolnshire.

"Although office vacancy within Chicago's northern suburbs averaged 18 to 22 percent for 1987, we anticipate that vacancy should fall significantly below 10 percent by the third quarter of 1988," said Lamphere.

"This tremendous drop in the vacancy rate is a result of continued strong absorption within the Edens/Tri-State corridor, particularly those buildings located in southern Lake County, as well as the dramatic drop in new office construction started in late 1986 and early 1987."

The net result of this drop in the vacancy rate will be a significant reduction in the concessions offered to new tenants and much higher effective rentals for developers within this marketplace. This undoubtedly will increase the interest in developing new buildings; however, this space is unlikely to be available to market until the latter part of 1989 or early 1990.

Lamphere stated that growth will remain particularly strong within the southern Lake County portion of this marketplace which has been dominated by large, high quality corporate parks such as The Corporate Grove in Buffalo Grove, The Corporate Woods in Vernon Hills and Lincolnshire Corporate Center.

Developments such as the 300 acre Lincolnshire

Corporate Center and the 190 acre Corporate Grove have been among the first in the Chicago area to offer this type of planned business environment. These corporate parks include recreational facilities, on site lodging, meeting and dining facilities, as well as a carefully planned traffic, architecture and landscaping controls which insure a safe and productive environment. However, if this trend continues as expected, these parks will not be the last to offer it.

In 1987 alone, The Corporate Woods secured commitments for 22 buildings totaling well over a million square feet. "We anticipate even more growth during 1988 than in 1987 as more tenants become aware of the advantages of a Lake County location and a superb business park environment," observed Lamphere. "The market will also be spurred by the increased efforts of new developers who are attempting to establish a niche within this rapidly expanding marketplace."

Sever to direct sales at Wynstone golf community

Ron Sever has been appointed director of sales at Wynstone, the 750-acre luxury Jack Nicklaus golf and residential community under development in the Village of North Barrington.

Announcement was made by J. Robert Sierra, president of the Jack Nicklaus Development Corp., developer of the exclusive master-planned community.

"Ron Sever's long and distinguished career in Chicago area real estate affords Wynstone the caliber of sales leadership needed to complete the community," said Sierra. "Initial buyer and builder response to Wynstone has greatly exceeded our expectations. With Ron Sever, we hope to make a successful transition from marketing homesites to marketing custom homes."

As director of sales, Sever will coordinate all marketing and real estate sales, including sales of homesites, estate homes, village homes and all retail real estate operations.

Prior to joining Wynstone, Sever was a broker and president of Associates Realty Corp., Palatine, which he co-founded 10 years earlier. He has achieved a lifetime sales volume in residential real estate of over $42 million. Previously, he was an associate broker of Jack L. Kemmerly Real Estate, having served as manager of the Lake Zurich office for two years.

The focal point of Wynstone will be its 18-hole championship golf course, designed by Jack Nicklaus and currently under construction. The golf course and a 35,000-square-foot clubhouse are scheduled to open in the summer of 1989.

Meanwhile, 260 estate homesites—ranging in size from one-half to three acres and in price from $95,000 to more than $300,000—have been sold.

Construction will also begin then on Village Homes, detached single family residences of similar architectural character located on premium sites overlooking the golf course, lakes or other scenic vistas. Designed for a maintenance-free lifestyle and occupying one-third to one-half acre, homes will start at $350,000 in one group, and at $1 million in another.

Barkhausen wins business praise

State Senator David N. Barkhausen (R-Lake Bluff) has earned a 90 percent rating for his legislative votes on job-related issues from one of the state's largest business organizations.

The high score is from the Manufacturers Political Action Committee (MPAC) of the Illinois Manufacturers Association. MPAC bases its annual ratings of all state legislators on the way they vote on bills that could add or take away jobs in the manufacturing sector.

Barkhausen said he is delighted over his high rating because it is indicative of his strong interest in encouraging manufacturing and bringing more jobs to the state. "Illinois is a leader in manufacturing because we have a competent work force," he said. "We must encourage further manufacturing development to bring new jobs to the state."

Barkhausen is one of only 17 Illinois senators rated 90 percent or higher by MPAC. The ratings are based on senators' votes on 10 issues, including one requiring studies to determine the impact that incentives to foreign firms will have on existing state businesses. Among other issues were a bill for protection of groundwater and one to prevent utility customers from being charged for a weatherization program for low-income families.

Citizens for better zoning trumpet call to arms

by IRIS MAYFIELD

A call to the concerned by the group, Citizens for Better Building and Zoning, is being trumpeted throughout Lake County for its 10:30 a.m. meeting on Saturday, Jan. 9, at the Lake Villa Twp. Hall.

Charter member Jo Garrett hopes this call to arms will bring about results from county officials. She says that previous efforts of the group have fallen on deaf ears.

In the past, the group, acting on citizens complaints, pulled records on over 50 different pieces of property. They presented their evidence to the county's committee on building and health, but "nothing was cleaned up," Garrett said.

"There's been no response from the County Board or (Lake County Building and Zoning Director Bob) Streicher," she said. "In private industry, Streicher couldn't exist as director of anything." Spokespersons for the group have reiterated they want the ordinances in place to be enforced.

In a statement to the County Board, members said, "We have tried in the past to bring this situation to your attention, but have met with very little success.

Auto deaths increase despite seatbelt law

Motor vehicle occupant deaths for November totaled 105, an increase from the five-year, pre-seat belt law average of 93 fatalities, according to provisional figures released by the Illinois Departments of Transportation and State Police.

The three-year average for November under the seat belt law is 105 fatalities as compared to the 93 death average in November for the five years (1980-84) preceding the law, an increase of 12.9 percent.

Overall fatalities for November totaled 139 as a result of 123 accidents. This is an increase of 5.3 percent from the 132 provisional deaths in November 1986. Included in the November totals are 27 pedestrians killed in 26 accidents, five persons killed in five accidents involving motorcycles, and three pedalcyclists killed in two accidents. There were no deaths in railroad crossing accidents.

In Lake County, provisional November deaths numbered four, provisional 1987 year-to-date numbered 69. The November final deaths was eight. At the same time in 1986, the year-to-date fatalities numbered 55.

BEST FOOT FORWARD

FROM THE OFFICE OF DR. PAUL ABLER

MORE ON FLAT FEET

We are all born with flat feet, and our arches develop during childhood. In a recent study of 441 people ranging in age from 1 to 80 years, physicians at Children's Hospital and Medical Center, Seattle, concluded that flexibility was the key to whether flat feet would pose a problem. As long as feet remain flexible, "flatness" could be accepted in adults.

When all the people in the study were evaluated, the researchers found that the extent of the normal range of the arch is broad throughout life and that foot width could be at least 1.3 times the width of the heel and still be in the normal range.

But if your flat feet are inflexible, your podiatrist can design orthotics that will relieve the overall fatigue that so commonly goes along with the condition.

League of Women Voters to bump heads with Bears

by IRIS MAYFIELD

If a tree falls in the woods when no one is there, does it make a sound?

That is the sort of problem the League of Women Voters will face when it presents a forum on the county executive form of government from 2 to 4 p.m. on Sunday, Jan. 10. It is a compelling question, but equally compelling for many voters will be the Chicago Bears playoff game with the Washington Redskins - which is happening at the same time.

On the primary election ballot March 15, voters will be asked, "Shall the County of Lake adopt the County executive form of government and elect not to become a home rule unit?" The panel discussion will address the three options open to voters so they can make an informed judgement call on this ballot question.

The discussion will take place in the College of Lake County's Auditorium, in the new C-wing. Panel members are State Rep. Grace Mary Stern (D-Highland Park); Phyllis Sherman, member of the task force on the structure of DuPage County government, and Andrea Moore, Lake County Board Vice-Chairman.

Stern will discuss one of three forms of county government - county board chairman at-large; Sherman will make a presentation on the county executive form; and Moore will inform the audience on the current Lake County form of government, council-administrator, while the Bears play on.

WKRS News Director Dan Keeney will run the proceedings. The format will be 15 to 20 minutes for each speaker, directly followed by a question and answer period. Each panel member will be given a three-minute closing statement.

The League's task force chair Jean Baenziger, suggests, "Put it (the game) on a VCR."

Baenizer says the League has to form a position on the question by the end of February,

"...so the forum had to be in January to get a referendum to league leaders. I know it's terrible, but it's a time frame impossible to work with."

So the question is, if it holds a forum and everybody's watching the Bears, will it make any difference?

Law helps seniors defer property tax

Senior citizens who are having trouble paying their real estate taxes were helped by a law that was passed in 1984.

This law allows senior citizens who qualify to defer all or part of their property taxes on their personal residence. The deferral is a loan by the State of Illinois with a 6 percent interest rate to be repaid after the death of the taxpayer or at the time the property is sold. To qualify, one must be 65 or older by June 1, 1988; have a total income of $14,000 or less; have owned a home in Illinois for at least three years; must own the property (the property must be used exclusively for residential purposes).

Dylans specializes in American continental cuisine with French touch

by GLORIA DAVIS

When Peggy and James Dylan were restauranteurs shopping a few years ago, it was "love at first sight" when they came across the Gilead House in Wilmot.

"We looked at a lot of others and it took a couple of years to figure out financing that would allow us to buy the Gilead, but we finally did it," said Peggy, not only the brains behind the day to day operations of Dylan's Restaurant (formerly the Gilead), but its chief chef.

Her husband James, who works another full time job, handles the business aspects of the gourmet operation.

During the summer of 1986, The Dylan's took over the former country restaurant located in a charming three-story building once an old local mansion that was turned into a Catholic grade school and convent.

Peggy, in an effort to change the restaurant's country decor into a more authentic early Victorian one, has begun that change by painting the outside a Victorian blue and the main dining room now sports lace curtains, bright salmon walls and is devoid of a lot of the country bric-a-brac, more closely following the stark garish look of an early Victorian mansion.

The kitchen has been remodeled for practical working purposes into a more efficient one.

But most important, the menu also has an entire new look.

This reviewer attended a sit-down brunch held at Dylan's as a post holiday celebration on Sunday.

The salad that was made up of a variety of crisp greens, cherry tomatoes and sliced cucumbers was frosted with a delicate, pink raspberry vinaigrette dressing and baskets of sliced stolen and pumpkin bread were the accompaniment.

The main dish turned out to be, not only a delight to the pocketbook because of its reasonable cost, but it was most pleasing to the eye and palate.

We dined on a succulent split and boned chicken breast that was enhanced by a sauce made of balsamic vinegar and other condiments. Not only was this up to any gourmet's standards but, since it was simply baked in the oven while topped by this low calorie, low cholesterol sauce, even the pickiest health nut could have no quarrel with this dish that tasted good enough to be fattening.

As on all the main entrees served at Dylan's, the fantastic fowl was surrounded by a colorful mixture of fresh vegetables served al dente.

From simple group gettogethers like this, Peggy has often served much bigger and more grandiose dinners such as seven course wedding rehearsal dinners, etc.

A variety of fresh fish entrees is another of Dylan's specialties, from red snapper to Norwegian salmon.

With the change of three or four menu items every few months, regular diners can never get bored, especially when some of the dishes are delights such as Cajun rabbit et oufie (slowly cooked rabbit topped with a pan blackened roux) or rack of veal galzed with a meaux mustard sauce.

Peggy is obviously into sauces which she claims she "can't live without." But her sauces are not the usual rich heavy sauces usually found in a French chef's repertoire. They are light and tangy and obviously meant to enhance instead of drown her very fine selection of fish, meats and poultry.

The menu at Dylan's is not necessarily a French one, rather a collection of American and continental dishes prepared with a French technique.

After starting her culinary career in Brussels, Belgium, as a sous chef, Peggy came to the Chicago area to begin her serious epicurean career. She trained as an apprentice under the well-known chef, Terry Lefevre and worked at Froggies in Highwood.

Her zeal for reaching culinary pinnacles had her working long and late hours for no salary but her need to spend more time with her daughter brought her to the daytime job of a pastry chef at the Winnetka Grill.

The fruits of this venture can be tasted in some of Dylan's most delectable desserts that include bourbon pecan pie, carrot cake topped with a rum sauce, a fresh lemon tart and a slice of flourless chocolate cake.

During the winter, Dylan's is only open on the weekends, on Fridays, from 5 to 10 p.m.; on Saturdays, at 11:30 a.m. for lunch and from 5 to 10 p.m. for dinner and on Sundays, from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Rock Tracks

By Rob Ferris

When listening to Rare Air, you can't help but saying, "Holy Blarney Stone, what is this?" The odd combination of bagpipes, drums and electric bass combines the Celtic tradition of bagpipes and snare drums with African rhythms, jazz, rock and whatever other influences creep into the four musicians' repertoire.

Rare Air was formed in 1978 under the name Na Caberfeidh (Scots gaelic meaning "top of the stag," a title given in ancient Scotland to the chief of the Mackenzie Clan). Grier Coppins, Patrick O'Gorman and Trevor Perrier all departed from some ten years in the Canadian Scottish Piping world to join forces with Japanese-Canadian solo guitarist Richard Murai to expand the depth and expression of their Celtic musical heritage.

The band recorded its first album, Stick It In Your Ear in 1980. Refreshing and innovative, the recording met with good press and public response. In 1981 they received a Canada Council Explorations grant to develop, arrange and compose new music based on their year-long sojourn in Brittany. Their second album, Rare Air, recorded in 1982, was a healthy and explosive blend of old and new world music with roots firmly planted in the Canadian Highland Pipe and Drum tradition.

By the time Rare Air's third album, Mad Plaid was released, the band was receiving attention from a diverse representation of musical publications — from Folk Roots in Britain to Billboard in the U.S. This could be their big year, the new record, due in the stores soon entitled Hard To Beat will be widely distributed, opening up a whole new market for the band. If you have a chance to catch their live act, do so. You'll find them immensely entertaining.

Gurnee Meetings
The Gurnee Village Board meets the first, third and fourth Mondays of each month. Board meetings are held at the village hall and begin at 8 p.m.

Outstanding Jewish artists display variety of works

North Shore Congregation Israel, 1125 Sheridan Rd., Glencoe, has been exhibiting work of four outstanding Jewish artists, Judith Joseph, Tamar Fishman, Bonnie Srolovitz and Roseann Chasman, since Jan. 5.

Tamar Fishman, renowned for the art of paper cutting, represents a form of Jewish folk art in its finest tradition. Each piece reflects careful research of the artistic and literary values of Jewish tradition and, when preparing a special commission, the personal background of the recipient.

Among her most celebrated works is a paper cut commissioned by the U.S. Dept. of State for presentation by President Ronald Reagan to Prime Minister Menachem Begin on the occasion of his state visit in 1981.

Bonnie Srolovitz will exhibit her contemporary Judaic work of brass and lucite. Her work reflects a modern form of artistic expression of six thousand year old traditions of Judaism.

Judith Joseph, a Northbrook artist whose work is familiar to many in this area, will exhibit her magnificent Ketubot, Hebrew marriage contracts. Her illuminated calligraphic manuscripts led her to egg tempera, the medium of medieval manuscript painters. Its crispness of detail and jewel-like color lends itself well to the execution of detailed fantasy dreamscapes.

Roseann Chasman, a Chicagoan, is known to many for her fine Ketubot paper cuts and graphics. Her works are in private collections in the U.S., Canada and Israel. Ms. Chasman will display a variety of her work.

The exhibition is open daily from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. For information, call (312) 835-0724.

Plan post holiday visit from Menotti's 'Amahl'

"Amahl and the Night Visitors," a one-act opera by Gian Carlo Menotti, will be presented at the First Presbyterian Church of Libertyville on Saturday, Jan. 16 at 7:30 p.m.

The performance will feature an orchestra comprised of professional musicians from the greater Chicago area under the direction of Paul McKenzie and a talented cast of actors and vocalists from the First Presbyterian Church directed by Sue Gehrke.

"Amahl" is a perfect way to top off the Christmas season, notes First Church Music Dir. McKenzie, as it depicts the visit of the wise men to the home of a poor woman and her crippled son. The touching story, which the composer himself described as "impulsive" and "warm-hearted", presents a timeless message which appeals to all children from six to 106.

The work has been enthusiastically received by audiences since 1951 when Menotti was commissioned to create this story for television.

This performance of "Amahl" will be the first in a new fine arts and music series, known as "First Features '88", which is being offered for the community-at-large.

Other upcoming programs in the series will include harpsichord soloist Roger Goodman on Feb. 14, baritone Robert Orth with theologian Martin Marty on March 27, and the Wheaton College Men's Glee Club on April 24.

Tickets for each event will be available at the door at $5 for adults and $3 for children age 12 and under. Friend, Patron and Sponsor subscriptions to the series are also available.

The First Presbyterian Church is located at the corner of Maple and Douglas Ave. in Libertyville, two blocks west of Rte. 21 (Milwaukee Ave.) and one block north of Rte. 176.

The church has ample parking and is wheelchair accessible. For additional information, call the church office at (312)362-2174.

In 'Amahl'

Paul Quillman, left, of Libertyville, and Frank Zerbino, of Vernon Hills rehearse for upcoming performance of "Amahl and the Night Visitors" at the First Presbyterian Church of Libertyville. Performance is set for Saturday, Jan. 16, at 7:30 p.m. Music will be by an orchestra of professional Chicago musicians under the direction of Paul McKenzie. The most talented cast of singers and actors are directed by Sue Gehrke. Call church office for ticket and other information, (312)362-2174.

Hurry! Wedding Expo '88 tickets are going fast

Debbie's Floral of Mundelein, Dancin' Machine II and Lakeland Newspapers will present "Wedding Expo '88" at the Holiday Inn in Mundelein from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., on Sunday, Jan. 17.

Claudine's Bridal Gallery of Libertyville and Henry's Formalwear of Waukegan will present a bridal fashion show at 1:30 p.m.

Tiffany's Hair Post, Libertyville, will be doing all the models' hair in the latest styles for the fashion show.

Prospective brides and grooms attending the show will be seeing the latest in wedding fashions. This year, the best seller in wedding gowns is the bouffant ball gown with a tiny waist, billowy skirt, pouf sleeves and a flowing train, much like that made popular by England's Princess Diana.

The fabrics for these grandiose gowns range from pure satin to polytaffeta and polyorganza.

More and more grooms and their groomsmen are also wearing traditional wedding white.

But those attending will also see a great variety in styles for brides, grooms, and attendants because the distinguishing feature of bridal fashion today is that there is no one fashion, choice is left up to individual tastes and needs.

Henry's will be featuring the newest in formalwear from the Dynasty collection, Bill Blass and Desmond.

Debbie's Floral Shoppe will supply the wedding flowers for the show. Today some couples select language flowers that impart special wedding wishes instead of tradition's seasonal flowers.

The carnation

bespeaks fidelity; lily of the valley, happiness; iris, good health; narcissus, prosperity and the rose is the traditional flower of love.

Many male members of the wedding party are forsaking the usual carnation boutonnieres for freesia, roses, asters, or they are wearing lapel flowers that match their female counterparts.

There will also be exhibits to help prospective bridal couples plan their wedding. Exhibiting sponsors will include, Debbie's Floral, Holiday Inn, Claudine's Bridal Gallery, Mundelein Cleaners, The Dancin' Machine II, Executive Cleaners, Gurnee, Gingiss Formal Wear, Henry's Formal Wear, K.E. Video and Lakeland Newspapers.

Tickets for Expo '88 can be gotten from the exhibiting sponsors or by calling Debbie's Floral, (312)949-4454 for reservations to be picked up at the door of the Holiday Inn the day of the show. Reservations should be made soon since tickets are going fast.

Exhibitors will be giving those attending free gifts and grand prize awards will be made in the main banquet room at 3 p.m. Winners must be present.

Gala ballet benefit spins in on schedule Jan. 23

"Icicles & Arabesques," a gala benefit to secure the future of ballet in Chicago, will be presented Saturday, Jan. 23 in the Gold Coast Room of the Drake-Chicago.

Kirk Players donate to service organizations

According to John Lynn, it wasn't the Kirk Players' greatest year, financially, but it wasn't too bad. They still ended up donating slightly over $3,000 to four non-profit service oriented organizations. Jesse Becker, financial director, closed the books on the 1986-87 Season with a heavy sigh of relief and a little smile.

The net profit from the 21st Subscription Series Season presentation of "Alone Together", "Odd Couple (Female Version)", "Little Indians" and "Play It Again, Sam" amounted to $3,054.52. That was the third highest in the Players' history behind $3,063 in '83-'84 and our record high of $3,660.10 in 1985-86.

The entire amount has been donated to the four pre-selected "sponsors" who helped them promote the shows and sell tickets. As is our established policy, the amount of the donations was based on the actual profits from the individual show that each organization promoted.

The largest donation, $1,035.60 went to the Greenhouse Program of Omni Youth Services, sponsors of the "Odd Couple (Female Version)". The money will help fund their various programs and services for the young people in the Fremont and Libertyville Townships. This was the sixth consecutive year the the Greenhouse people have sponsored a Kirk benefit. The resulting six show total of $3,392 moves them to the top of our list of community contributions. Among the 33 organizations who have "sponsored" a Kirk Subscription Series Show.

Hotai Pup Tent No. 67 of the Military Order of the Cootie, the "Honor Degree" of the VFW, who sponsored "Ten Little Indians", received the second largest donation. The $714.21 donated to them will help fund their continuous efforts to "Keep 'em smiling in beds of white" and "to keep alive the spirit of optimism and humor so

A private performance of dancers formerly with Chicago City Ballet will be one of the highlights of the evening. Daniel Duell, who was brought to Chicago in October to serve as artistic director of Chicago City Ballet, is directing the performance which will feature the Chicago premiere of the "The Steadfast Tin Soldier." Duell will also address the benefit audience regarding his plans for ballet in Chicago.

The black tie benefit will begin with a 6 p.m. Taittinger Champagne reception and silent auction. Dinner, dancing and a live auction conducted by auctioneers from Christie's will round out the evening.

"Icicles & Arabesques" tickets, at $75 per person, are available by calling (312) 944-2082 or (312) 549-4229.

In announcing plans for "Icicles & Arabesques," Duell said that he and the dancers are "immensely encouraged" by the response of Chicagoans and the arts community to the "Dance for Tomorrow" performance on Nov. 29 at the Ruth Page Auditorium.

"It already shows that Chicago can and will support a first-rate ballet company," he said. Even though the performance was not intended as a fundraiser, contributions totalled more than $12,000, and "we're still getting donations and great volunteer support," Duell said.

"The goal of 'Icicles & Arabesques' is to raise money—at least $50,000," said Susan Slotter, who with Marcia Kamen is co-chairing the event. "This will begin to restore the base of support that will enable the core company of dancers to keep dancing."

She added, "Early support for the gala has demonstrated that the community shares our vision of a Chicago ballet company we can be proud of."

Chicago Title Insurance Co. is helping underwrite the costs of the event. In addition, more than 150 businesses have donated prizes for the silent and live auctions. Donors include the Carol and Irwin Ware Fur Collection, the Heartland Health & Fitness Retreat, Taittinger Champagne, Becky Bisouli, Inc., Robert Kamen Jewelry and United Airlines.

Since Duell's arrival in September, the company has premiered five original ballets, four of Duell's and one by rising choreographer Lisa DeRibere. In addition, Duell has established a working relationship with three other Chicago dance companies as well as with the Lyric Opera chorus and independent musicians.

Following the premiere of Balanchine's "Steadfast Tin Soldier" at "Icicles and Arabesques" Duell anticipates adding other Balanchine works to the company's repertoire.

Since September, the company has continued to expand its scope in the Chicago area with guest appearances in Galesburg with the Galesburg Symphony and in Romeoville. "The company received standing ovations at both performances," Duell reports.

At Galesburg, Duell also presented a lecture-demonstration for school children. As a principal dancer with the New York City Ballet, Duell presented scores of lecture-demonstrations to school children of all ages in the New York City area. He says he wants to offer similar programs for youngsters throughout metropolitan Chicago.

Lakeland WEEKEND

Cronyn and Tandy give 'Batteries' spark...a little YES NO

✓ Bill Dotson ★★

When you put down a "wholesome family film" like "Batteries Not Included", you risk being labeled a jaded, cold-hearted cynic. But I am not generally a cynical guy. In fact, unlike that shady character lurking on the other side of the dotted line, I am a big fan of films like "E.T." and "Cocoon". But both of those movies worked far better for me than this one.

Just like "Batteries", "E.T." shamelessly manipulated the audiences emotions with a contrived plot, but it worked because the performances of the 3 child stars were so genuinely natural and convincing. Steven Spielberg's skill as a director made them come across as "real kids", rather than "child actors".

"Cocoon" had a whole cast of veteran Hollywood legends to support it, including the 2 stars of "Batteries", Hume Cronyn and Jessica Tandy, making comparisons between the 2 films even more inevitable.

As usual, the talented couple do a fine job of bringing their characters to life despite the cliches. Unfortunately, though, the other 3 main characters (an artist, an ex-boxer, and a Spanish woman) come off as flat and undeveloped.

Certain elements were just too predictable. I knew immediately that the artist and the Spanish girl, would end up in love, but only after a rocky beginning. Also, from the very first time that Tandy calls a stranger by her son's name, you KNOW it will later be revealed that the son died many years ago and she has never accepted it.

The movie went a bit too far with the cute little spaceships idea. I could have accepted the original 2 ships, but when they started having "baby ships", they lost me there.

I did like the fact that the film omitted one cliche common in other visitors-from-space movies. The idea of the Army or government trying to capture or destroy friendly aliens as in "Starman", "E.T." and others, is ignored here. I enjoyed those 2 movies very much but the "evil military" bit was still wearing thin.

"Batteries Not Included" may be worth catching at a matinee if only to watch those old pros, Cronyn and Tandy, at work again. They were outstanding in the recent TV movie "Foxfire" with John Denver, and here, they add a touch of class to an otherwise so-so film.

'Batteries Not Included' has no power to spare YES NO

✓ Matthew Poliakon ★

Steven Spielberg's name has become somewhat synonymous with the genre of films that have "cute" little things that either go beep, fly and/or have funny lights. With such films in the past as "Close Encounters Of The Third Kind" to "Gremlins" and "E.T.", Spielberg has almost created a cottage industry in Hollywood with the development of these various "cutes". Though "Batteries Not Included" is not strictly "his film", Spielberg does seem to have had a lot to do with it, at least in the planning stages ("concept" as the boys in Tinsel Town like to refer to it). There also seems to have been some sort of writing problem with "Batteries" because there are three names credited. But these thoughts are mere prologue. More to the point with "Batteries" is the plot, characters and action.

Synopsis: Two "cute" flying hubcaps take up their roost at the top of a condemned brownstone. Now these flying hubcaps have some interesting traits, least of which is that the "mother" hubcap is about to become pregnant (honest). They seem to have come from a race of "hubcaps" somewhere off in time and/or space that like to repair broken things: Watches, tile floors, anything that comes to "hand". They also seem to need electricity in order to survive and propagate. This they get from wall sockets of the apartment building (on second thought, if they need this power so darned much, why didn't they just go and land at a Con Ed facility somewhere?). It is also interesting that even over the vast stretches of space and time, that their plugs and our outlets are built with the very same parameters.

This being a film primarily directed towards adolescents, preadolescents as well as Hollywood executives, these sort of minor technical questions are of little or no importance. The truly important part of this film is that these hubcaps and their metallic hockeypuck offspring are so incredibly "cute". It is this sacrocint "cuteness" that utterly corrupts this film in my mind. Yes, it had it's gross stereotypes and story development problems, but this incessant "cuteness" must stop! Mr. Spielberg. Do me a favor. The next time you make a film about alien intelligences visiting earth, take a clue from "Aliens" or "2001". Either make them 30 foot drooling cockroaches with two mouths or inscrutable thin black singing monoliths. Kubrick would be proud.

A taste of the 'Big Apple'

by JIM WARNEK
President, North Star Travel, Inc.

New York. It's a microcosm of all the great international cities, yet unlike any other. It offers the theatres of London, the lights of Paris and the traffic of Rome (more about traffic in a moment). But New York has an excitement, a feeling about it that is only New York.

Let's get on with the best way to see the "Fun City."

New York has three main airports. They are J.F. Kennedy, La Guardia, and the last one, which is actually in Newark, New Jersey. The least expensive airfare is usually into Newark. A bus from the Newark Airport services the downtown Manhattan hotels and costs about $10. How long is the ride? In distances it's just a little further than O'Hare to downtown Chicago. In minutes, well, that depends on traffic in the tunnels or bridges. Let's say 45 minutes on average.

Getting back to the traffic. Manhattan is an island. As such, it can only be reached by bridges, tunnels or car ferry. Everyone entering or leaving this busy business district must do so by one of these means. On a recent Sunday afternoon, I had to wait 30 minutes to enter the Lincoln Tunnel. You can imagine what 5 p.m. on Friday is like! Do not drive in New York. Take a cab or walk.

Better yet, see the city by boat. Circle Line Tours has frequent sailings near the foot of West 42nd St. Hudson River Day Lines also sails from there.

Of course, a visit to New York would not be complete without seeing that famous lady with the torch. The ferry to Liberty Island can be boarded at Battery Park on the south end of Manhattan. Her official title is "Liberty Enlightening the World" for you trivia buffs. A suggestion: don't bother with the steep 168-step climb to the lady's forehead. The view is poor from the small windows and the wait can be over an hour. OK. I was warned, too, and did it anyhow. Go on and try it.

Last tip. For the best pastrami sandwich anywhere, try Wolf's Deli on the Avenues of the Americas, just off Central Park.

Major changes in new turkey hunting season coming

Illinois sportsmen will find several major changes in the 1988 spring turkey hunting season, according to Mark Frech, director of the Ill. Dept. of Conservation.

"Due to the increased interest in this hunting season, we've made numerous changes in our turkey hunting program for the 1988 hunting season," director Frech said.

"We've changed the method of applying for the county, made the application period earlier in the year, restructured the shooting dates and made it legal for a hunter to take up to two turkeys during the spring season. In addition, we've opened two new counties--Carroll and Randolph--to hunting for the 1988 season."

This year, hunters may apply for turkey hunting permits to be issued in the computerized random drawing beginning Jan. 11 and continuing through Jan. 22. All requests must be on official application forms. Applications postmarked after Jan. 22 will not be included in the drawing.

The biggest change in this year's wild turkey hunting program, however, is the restructuring of the hunting season.

In the past, the Ill. Dept. of Conservation issued either full-season permits (12 days) or permits for the last half of the season (seven days). For the 1988 hunting season, there will be three hunting seasons, and permits will be valid only for specific single season dates.

The first turkey hunting season begins Monday, April 11, and concludes Friday, April 15 (five days); the second season begins Saturday, April 16 and runs through Friday, April 22 (seven days); and the third season begins Saturday, April 23 and concludes Wednesday, May 4 (12 days).

"Hunters will be permitted to list only their first choice of hunting county and first, second and third choice of the season they wish to hunt," Frech said. "Hunters who are unsuccessful in the initial computerized lottery will be allowed to re-apply for permits in counties which have not filled their season quotas beginning Feb. 29."

Those permits will be distributed by a random drawing each day. On March 14, the remaining permits will also be available to hunters who already have a permit."

Frech explained that under the new regulations, hunters can hold up to two wild turkey permits, and take up to two birds during the season.

Frech warned that hunters should not wait until the last minute to get second permits. Applicants submitting applications within three weeks of the hunting season are not guaranteed receipt of the permit by the beginning of the season.

Each Wild Turkey Hunting Permit sells for $15. Persons applying for more than one permit before the March 14 re-application date will have all permits revoked and forfeit their fees. Permits are not transferrable, and no refunds will be made once the permit has been issued.

Director Frech pointed out that up to four permit applications may be submitted in a single envelope for group hunts. Each of the applications must be for the same county, and list identical first, second and third choices of hunting seasons. Group hunters also are required to list a group leader for purposes of the lottery.

Turkey hunting will begin one-half hour before sunrise and conclude at noon each day of the season. Only gobblers or hens with visible beards can be taken during the spring hunting season.

Hunters will be permitted to take wild turkeys with a shotgun not larger than a 10 gauge, nor smaller than a 20 gauge. Hunters may use shot not larger than number 4, nor smaller than number 7 and one-half.

In addition, wild turkeys can be taken with bow and arrow. Archers may use a long bow, recurved bow or compound bow with a minimum draw weight of 40 pounds at some point before reaching a 28-inch draw length. A barbless, broadhead hunting arrow is the only arrow which is legal. Any mechanical device capable of maintaining a drawn position or partially drawn position on a bow is illegal.

Frech pointed out that every county will have the same number of permits available for each of the three hunting seasons. "Last year, we had 6,095 permits to distribute to turkey hunters statewide," Frech said. "By splitting the season into three separate periods, and opening two new counties, we will be able to put nearly 10,000 hunters into the field."

Slate many tours at Volo Bog

Starting Saturday, Jan. 2, Volo Bog State Natural Area will be offering guided tours of the bog. Some of the winter attractions include leatherleaf, winterberry holly and the now bare tamarack trees all laced in a winter white.

Schedule gospel singers

The gospel music group Heartsong of Bethany, Ill. will present a concert on Saturday, Jan. 9, at 7 p.m. at Fox Lake Church of the Nazarene, 239 E. Grand Ave., Fox Lake.

Heartsong's music has a unique sound using a variety of styles and messages. They accompany their singing on acoustic stringed instruments.

The public is invited to attend the concert. There is no admission charge and a free will offering will be taken. For more information call Rev. Tim Casey at (312) 587-6746 or (312) 587-5252.

Winter provides an ideal opportunity to get a sneak-peek into the private lives of some of the resident mammals of Volo Bog through the decoding of their tracks and other signs.

On an occasional harsh winter, white-winged crossbills are sighted as their winter range extends southward into Illinois.

Some ancient history is also brought forth during this quiet time of year. For example, it is interesting to note the significance of seeds in the history of bogs and men. It has something to do with life, death and an ancient goddess. Learn the full story and much more on a guided tour this winter.

Weekend guided tours are on Saturdays and Sundays at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. at the Volo Bog State Natural Area, 28478 W. Brandenburg Rd., Ingleside.

Meet in the visitor center. For more information phone (815) 344-1294.

Mattson strong competition in rock 'n roll finals

Antioch teenager Robert Mattson performed his rap at the state finals of the "Parents Too Soon" Rock 'n Romance Song-Writing Contest, Volume II.

Mattson was strong competition for the winner, an East St. Louis teenager who sang his way to victory with his song "Being Parent Too Soon Isn't Easy."

As the grand prize winner, 15-year-old Larry Jones will have his song professionally recorded. Appearing on the flip-side of Jones' recording will be the "PTS Crew," the runner-up group of eight teens from Rockford, who will record their rap "Parents Too Soon."

The award-winning contest was developed last year by Parents Too Soon, the State of Illinois' initiative to combat teenage pregnancy as well as the negative consequences of adolescent childbearing and parenting.

Based on the premise that the best way to reach teens is through their own words and medium, the month-long contest asked teenagers to submit lyrics addressing the consequences of teen sexuality.

Jones said he entered the contest "because teenage pregnancy has become a big problem, and I think teenagers need someone their own age to listen to."

A student at King Junior High School, Jones is an experienced song-writer and a member of the school choir. He hopes to one day become a successful musician and believes his winning song "Being a Parent Too Soon Isn't Easy" has given him a good start.

The "PTS" Crew wrote their rap last year as part of a project for a Black heritage class at Wilson Middle School, under the direction of teacher Linda Patterson.

More than 65 Illinois radio stations and their disc jockeys encouraged teens to enter the contest earlier this fall. For the second year in a row, the contest generated more than 100 entries statewide.

In addition to participating radio stations, companies throughout the state, including 7-Eleven stores and Rose Records, distributed contest entry blanks. A&M Records, Keebler Co., Plitt Theatres, Quaker Oats Co. and Tootsie Roll donated prizes and snack items for the finals.

Mattson, Jones and the "PTS Crew" were among 10 finalists selected to compete at the final competition at Chicago's Stadium Club. Other finalists included teenage song-writers from Chicago, Frankfort, Metropolis, Rantoul, Springfield and Urbana.

Finalists performed for a panel of judges, including last year's contest winner, 17-year-old Jackie Marek. Judging criteria included: how well the entry addresses the issue of the consequences of teen sexuality; "singability"; clarity; and how well the entry is written.

Other judges included Chicago Bears fullback Matt Suhey, as well as Dr. Bernard Turnock, director of the Illinois Dept. of Public Health, and Kathy Breidert, deputy director of the Illinois Dept. of Public Aid. Gordon Johnson, director of the Illinois Dept. of Children and Family Services, spoke to the predominantly teenage audience about male responsibility.

According to Illinois Dept. of Public Health statistics, Illinois adolescents gave birth to 22,080 infants in 1986, representing 12.5 percent of all births in the state. Teen pregnancy continues to be a statewide epidemic.

Mattson's rap in teen state finals

The following are the words to the untitled rap song written by Robert Mattson of Antioch. Mattson performed the song in the state finals of Parents Too Soon Rock 'n Romance Song Writing Contest:

Teens these days always want their ways,
They're becoming young adults, but that's OK.
When they're in love, they act too bold,
They want love too fast can't you wait until you're old?

These years ahead will be the most fun you'll have,
You try it too soon, you'll end up Mom and Dad.
Think about what you're doing, don't listen to your peers,

Take it easy, slow down, and wait a couple of years,
If it happens now, you'll miss a big part of life,
and it might get you down being husband and wife.
You're still young—let's face it—face the facts,
Get smart, not stupid, and play it like that.

A couple I knew, still in high school, were going out for a month or two.
One day, I saw them kissing and hugging,
As guys yelled, "Go for it!" I said stop bugging.
As they departed, I walked over to the guy
A big grin on his face as he said, "Hi."

"Whatcha doing tonight my good fellowed friend?"
He said, "I don't believe we're making the scene!"
I said, "Wait! You're only 16!"

He said, "I don't care," and he started to leave.
"Stop my man, and take some advice,
Don't do it now, you still have your whole life!"

Saw him next week, and he was looking sad,
"What's wrong my man?" "I'm becoming a dad..."

He stumbled all over and started to cry,
Looked what happened to this young guy.

He wasn't thinking at all, didn't use his head,
Without an education, you can't support your kid,
This life ain't swell, I don't live that way,
When I wanna kid, it'll be OK.

You gotta get your kid off to a good start,
Got to be older and secure to play the part.

Cause right now, you're really to young,
Just have some fun, and that time will come.

Take your girl out on a date or for a short walk,
Be close to her, but think the things I talked about.

Becoming Parents too soon is really weak.

'Lovers' Pullman's new show

"Lovers and Other Strangers," the hilarious fun-poker of ethnic weddings, will open at the Grand Hotel in Wauconda on Friday, Jan. 22, for a run of five weeks.

It is the Pullman Players' first production of the 1988 season. The excellent cast was well-chosen by director Jessie Torgeson of Fox Lake, and represents a good sampling of community theatre, as members come from all parts of Lake County.

The cast includes Joe Jensen of Dundee playing the parts of Jerry and Hal; Pam Orlando of Wauconda in the roles of Brenda and Susan; Joy Welker of Lake Zurich portraying Cathy and Joan; Brian Goebel of Wauconda as Johnny and Frank; Mike Guilfoyle of Lake Zurich playing Mike and Ritchie; Marge Nichols of Mundelein as Wilma; and Linda Langer of Wauconda in the role of Bea.

Rehearsals are well underway for this delightful comedy, which went from a Broadway hit to a smash movie. For information on tickets, phone (312)526-3642 or (312)526-7730.

THIS WEEK'S

HOROSCOPE

BY SALOME

Weekly Tip: Keep smiling.

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr 19) You are anxious to start the New Year on the right foot, but you must first take care of the work you left over the holidays. Keep your spirit up.

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20) Make sure you don't forget obligations you have made to other people; if they need help, you should be there for them. You may need some favors soon.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) Your romantic life has been humming along nicely, but be on the lookout for some rocky roads ahead. There are evil forces working against you.

Cancer (June 21-Jul 20) Worn out and tired from the holiday season, you should try to make some time to be alone with your significant other and rest up for the coming year.

Leo (Jul 21-Aug. 22) Family pressures have been lifted off you for now, so seize the opportunity to spend some quality time with dear friends. Entertain at home if you can.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) What started out as a small problem has snowballed into a situation of enormous stress. Ask a friend whom you really trust for some good advice.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct 22) Often you get the feeling others are taking advantage of you since you're so generous. You must learn when to say "no" to people for your peace of mind.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) There is someone in the office who has been watching you, so make no moves which could disturb the flow there. Finances are looking up now.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) A big change is in the offing for you and your family: not good or bad, just different. Be prepared to move fast when you are called into action.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If you see an opportunity to move ahead at the office, seize it; there are people there who will be vying for the spot, and the competition is tough.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) You may be feeling a little depressed after all the holiday hoopla, so lift yourself up by calling your friends and other people who care about you.

Pisces (Feb. 19-Mar. 20) This would be a good time to review your positions both professionally and personally. You may want to ask some objective individuals for friendly advice.

If you were born this week, you have an uncanny ability for reading people and knowing what kind of person they are after a brief first meeting. You can use this talent to your advantage if you make sure you are just evaluating, and not judging, the people who cross your path.

Farrell running hard for Churchill's legislative seat

Grant B. Farrell has announced his candidacy for the office of State Representative for the 62nd District of the Illinois General Assembly. Farrell, a Democrat, will be unopposed in the March 15, 1988 Primary. As the

Popp joins Kemp delegation

All areas of the 12th Congressional Dist. are represented on the Rep. Jack Kemp for President delegate slate that is campaigning for the March primary.

The 12th Dist. Kemp team includes Cook County Republican Chairman Donald L. Totten of Schaumburg.

Other delegate candidates from the Lake County portion of the district are Fred Popp of Lake Villa, County Board Dist. 4 Representative and Supervisor of Lake Villa Township, and Bradley B. Hansen of Lake Zurich.

Rounding out the delegate slate are State Rep. Bernard Pedersen of Palatine and Calvin Skinner of Crystal Lake.

The list of alternate Kemp delegates includes Dr. Edward R. May of Arbor Vista, Warren Township. May has been active in GOP affairs and has experience on the Warren Township High School Board.

Other alternate delegates include Marilyn McNally, Wonder Lake; John Mathias, Inverness; Marc A. Hoskins, Palatine; and Donald K. Laxton, Schaumburg.

Democratic nominee, he will be seeking to unseat the incumbent in the November 8, 1988 General Election.

Farrell has a strong background in both the trades and management. "I feel that I can bring a great breadth of experience to this office. I have worked as licensed plumber, I've had major project coordination and management responsibilities as a facilities manager for American Hospital Supply (now Baxter Corporation) and I've had construction management experience as Vice-president of Koetz and Barton. I can relate to the needs and feelings of a cross-section of the populace." At present Farrell is devoting himself full-time, to seeking the position of State Representative for the 62nd District.

Farrell is currently serving his second term as an elected board member of the Orton Dyslexia Society (children with learning disabilities). He is serving his second term as an elected official on the Executive Board of Plumbers, Local No. 93 in Waukegan. In addition, he is a member of Ducks Unlimited, and the Experimental Aircraft Association.

Farrell attended Waukegan Township High School and Roosevelt University in Chicago. He is the great-nephew of the late Jack Bairstow, who served Lake County as State Representative from 1953 until his death in October of 1963. Farrell, age 36, is a lifelong resident of Lake County. He was born and raised in

Grant Farrell

Waukegan. Farrell's wife Debra, who is also a lifetime resident of Lake County was raised in Winthrop Harbor and is the granddaughter of the late Gilbert "Mac" McAllister, a well known businessman and former President of the Winthrop Harbor Lions Association. Grant and his wife now reside in Antioch with their three children, ages 16, 8, and 1 year.

SPORTS BRIEFS

Full schedule ahead

Jan. 8 and 9 will be a busy weekend for all Lake County basketball teams as conference season heats up.

A look at Jan. 8 games feature North Suburban Conference co-leader Warren at Fenton, Marian Central at Round Lake, Grayslake at Wauconda, North Chicago at undefeated Zion-Benton, Salem Central (Wis.) at Badger, Lake Forest at Stevenson, Libertyville at Antioch and Northwest Suburban Conference leader Marengo at Lake Zurich.

NSC games on Jan. 9 pit Mundelein at Warren in the first scheduled home game for Warren's new gym. Antioch is at North Chicago and Stevenson travels to Libertyville for a battle with the winless Wildcats. Niles Notre Dame is at Carmel in East Suburban Catholic Conference action. Cary-Grove is at Grayslake in non-conference play.

The NWSC showdown between Marengo and the Panthers, originally scheduled for Dec. 15, will be Jan. 11 at Round Lake.

Game times for all of the above are 7:30 p.m.

Wintertime fun

Last year when the Gurnee Park Dist. scheduled its annual ski clinic, it had to be postponed due to lack of snow.

That should not be a problem this winter. The park district's annual clinic will take place Jan. 10.

Also that day, those non-Bear fans who enjoy ice fishing may participate in Grayslake Community Park Dist.'s annual ice fishing derby at Jones Island. Prizes will be awarded to the top fishermen.

Home sweet home?

Warren's boys and girls basketball teams were scheduled to return home to the Gurnee campus this weekend, but the way Warren's teams have been playing this winter, the Blue Devils may wish to continue the road show.

Despite playing no home games, the Warren boys are 10-2 and the girls are 10-3, a combined 20-5. Both teams are tied for first place in North Suburban Conference races.

Boat show nears

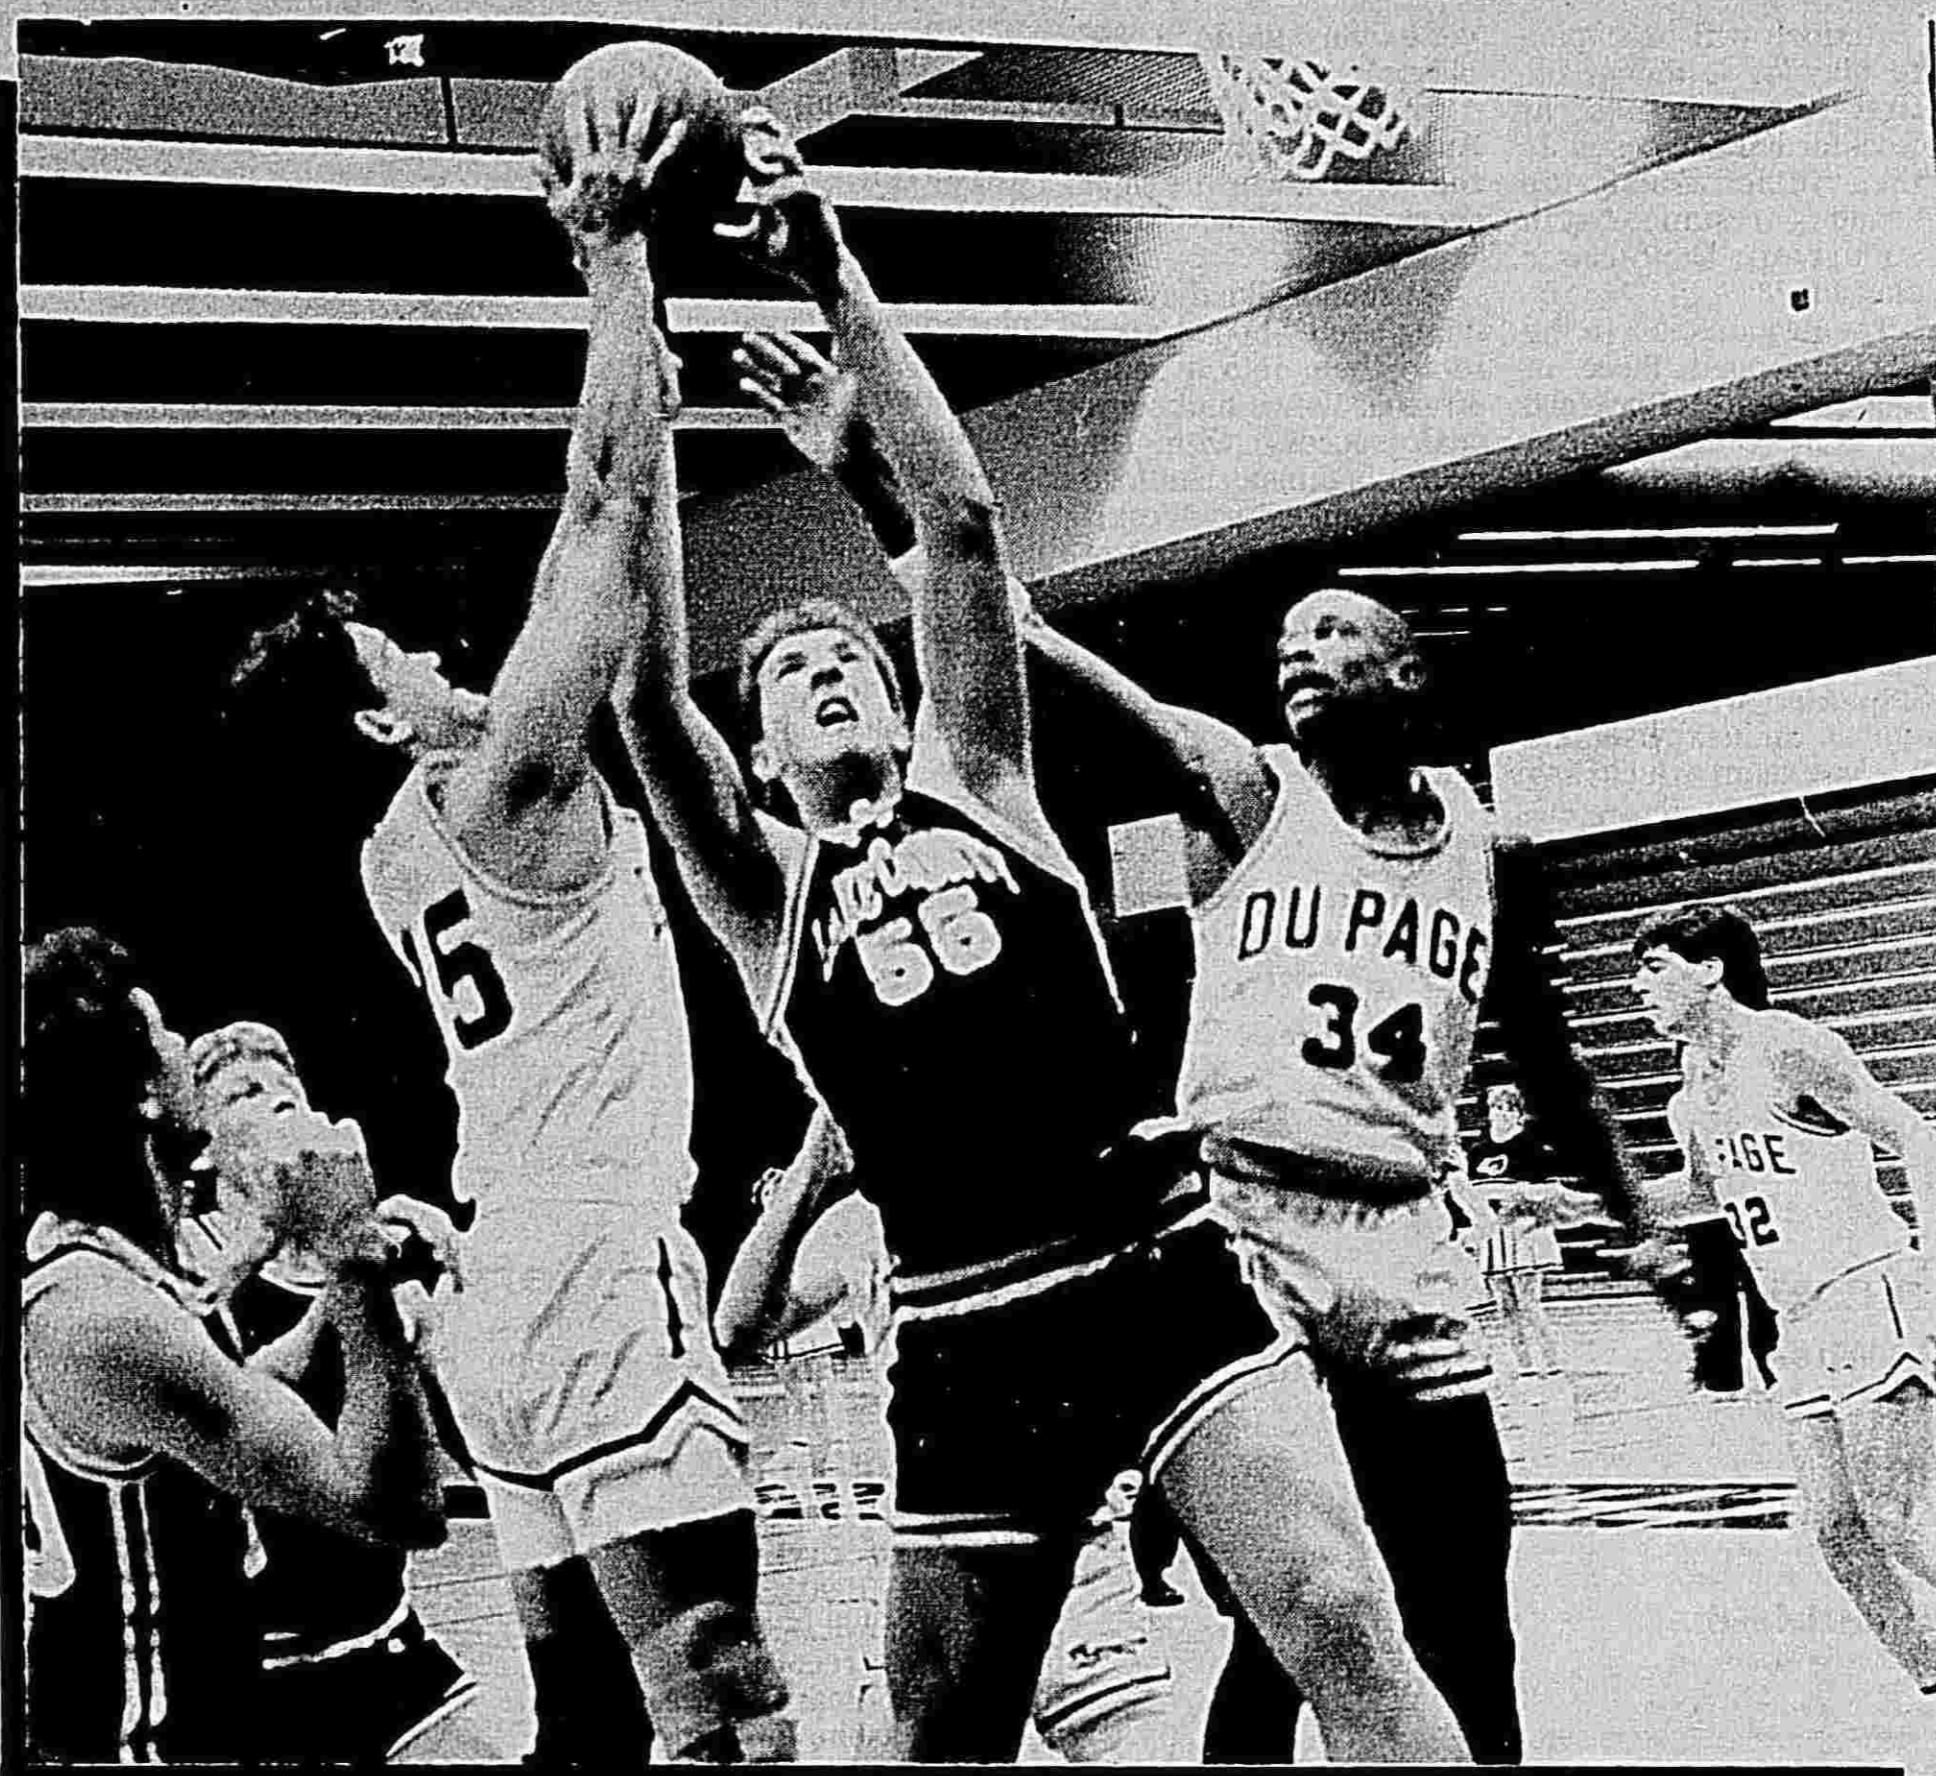

Filling six halls of the O'Hare Expo Center in Rosemont, the Ninth Annual Chicagoland Sport Fishing, Travel & Outdoors Show opens Jan. 29 and outdoor lovers are now preparing for the annual event.

Hands-on fishing at the Trout Pond, casting at the 70-foot casting pond, bass catching demonstrations in the popular 'Hawg Trough', free fishing seminars, kids' workshops - all of these features will entertain and educate show attendees. Some 725 exhibitors are expected.

Pack The Place

Carmel High School for Girls in Mundelein has scheduled Jan. 12 for its "Pack The Place". The Corsairs will battle rival Regina Dominican in the Carmel gym. The junior varsity contest will begin at 5 p.m. with the varsity contest starting at 6:30 p.m.

A special bonus attraction will be held between games when faculty members will be participating in a free-throw contest. Each participant will be given 15 minutes to make as many baskets as possible. Money pledged to the faculty will be donated to several different charities.

Battling for rebound

College of Lake County's Don Kiegen tries to outmuscle College of DuPage's Michael Burk and Chris Chambliss. CLC earlier had played DuPage to one-point loss, but Saturday the Chaparrals whipped the Lancers 70-53. CLC is now preparing for remainder of Skyway Conference season. CLC will host perennial Skyway Conference power Wright Junior College Jan. 12 in Grayslake at 7 p.m. — Photo by Steve Peterson.

Lancers are ready to commence attempt for Skyway Conference championship

Just like everybody else, basketball coaches like to revel in the new year.

But the celebration of the new year can be short-lived when a team has to come back and play a tough opponent in a cold gym the next night.

Such was the case for the College of Lake County's mens basketball team, which lost to College of DuPage 70-53 in Glen Ellyn Saturday.

"It was your typical day-after-New Years day game," CLC coach Bruce Smith said.

The Lancers, now 7-6 overall, can now concentrate on the upcoming Skyway Conference season. The Lancers will host Wright, a perennial league powerhouse, Jan. 12 at 7 p.m.

As for the conference race, Smith sees it as a competitive one.

"I hope we play to the level we are capable of. Any team in the conference is can beat any other," Smith said.

After obtaining a short-lived lead at 2-1 on a Bob Bell field goal, CLC ran into problems. DuPage, a team the Lancers lost to by a single point at the Highland Christmas tournament, pressed after every made basket. The Lancers committed eight turnovers in the first 10 minutes as the Chaparrals zoomed to a 16-4 lead.

CLC did settle down a bit after that, but a 6-2 run by DuPage late in the half gave the hosts a 33-16 halftime advantage.

One of the big factors in DuPage's early surge was rebounding, according to Smith.

"We got outrebounded pretty bad tonight," Smith said.

The Lancers played with DuPage on even terms in the second half, but the damage had been done.

The loss dropped CLC to 7-6 for the pre-conference season.

Bell and Ed Beskow led CLC's scoring with 10 points apiece.

Carmel seeks two key league victories

Carmel basketball coach Scott Rosberg had good reason to be concerned going into the Kankakee Christmas tournament.

"After losing two games before the tournament, I was wondering how we would do. But to come out 3-1, I was just thrilled," Rosberg said.

The Corsairs are hoping to continue that momentum into the East Suburban Catholic Conference games which resumed this week with league-leader St. Joseph. Carmel faces Notre Dame and Weber this weekend.

Carmel opened the Kankakee tournament with a 65-62 win over Joliet Central. The Corsairs played well for three quarters before losing to Leo 59-39. They then bounced back to edge Naperville Central 50-44 before beating host Kankakee 50-42 in the fifth place contest.

Senior forward Scott Stahoviak led the way in Carmel's wins and his play drew praise from first-year coach Rosberg.

"He was outstanding. He had an excellent tournament," Rosberg said.

Stahoviak's best outing came in the win over Naperville Central. Stahoviak scored 24 points and snared down 18 rebounds for the Corsairs.

Stahoviak opened the tournament with an 18-point outing in the three-point win over Joliet Central. Kevin Talz had 17 points and Jeff Kalk 11 for the Corsairs.

Carmel took a 20-14 lead after one and extended it to 31-20 at halftime. Joliet Central rallied in the second half as the two teams fought to a 14-14 standoff in the third quarter and Joliet won the fourth quarter 28-20.

Carmel jumped off to a good start in both halves in the win over Kankakee. The Corsairs led 20-14 after one and following a 9-9 tie in the second quarter, outscored the hosts 12-6 in the third quarter for a 41-29 lead after three.

Kankakee rallied in the fourth quarter.

Antioch aiming to improve record in NSC

Antioch will be hoping to play as it did in the first three games at Rockford as opposed to the finale when the Sequoits resume North Suburban Conference play Jan. 8.

The Sequoits, 2-2 in the NSC, dropped three of four games at Rockford but were competitive in three contests. Antioch hosts Libertyville Jan. 8 before facing North Chicago Jan. 9 in two NSC contests.

In Libertyville, the Sequoits will be up against an inexperienced Wildcat team which has yet to win a game in NSC play.

In North Chicago, Antioch will have to stop the Warhawks' senior scoring machine, James Coles.

"It sounds like they are doing a job. I hope we can force them into a setup offense. We've had some real success with the press against Guilford and Waukegan West," Antioch coach Don Zeman said.

North Chicago starts the renewed league season tied with Antioch for fourth place in the NSC at 2-2.

"We played well the first three games. We gave a strong Rockford Guilford team which has defeated Rockford Boylan this year all it could handle and against Waukegan West we played well against a very big team. In the last two games, we were just physically tired," Zeman said of his team's play at Rockford.

Antioch started the tournament with a close 61-60 loss to Guilford. The Sequoits led as late as 1:30 to go in the quarter, but missed a critical free throw try and then committed a turnover.

Carmel girls keep first Classic title, set for loop contests

It was the first Carmel Christmas Classic ever, so, the Corsairs figured, what better way to start the tradition and head into the new year with momentum than win the first trophy.

That's just what the Corsairs did, using strong defense to knock off Lake Zurich 44-29 to win the title. The victory gave Carmel a perfect 3-0 record for the tournament, 10-4 heading into 1988.

"I hope we can keep it going," Carmel coach Bob Hauckdahl said.

The Corsairs set the trend from the start by using a box-in-one against Lake Zurich's Laurie Heinrich. The strategy worked, as Heinrich, Lake Zurich's leading scorer, was held to six point.

"We used a box-in-one on Laurie Heinrich and there's your answer there. Michele Muelner and Kandice Zgona did a super job," Hauckdahl said.

Lake Zurich coach Bob Allard, whose team fell to 5-9 after the tourney, said he is looking for consistency.

"We have people who don't seem to see the court the way they should at this point in their careers. If we don't get some consistency, it will be a real long season. Laurie better get used to those trick defenses," Allard said.

It took the Corsairs about 12 minutes of play to get on track offensively. The home team trailed 6-4 after eight minutes and the two teams were tied at 10 all with 4:10 left in the second quarter.

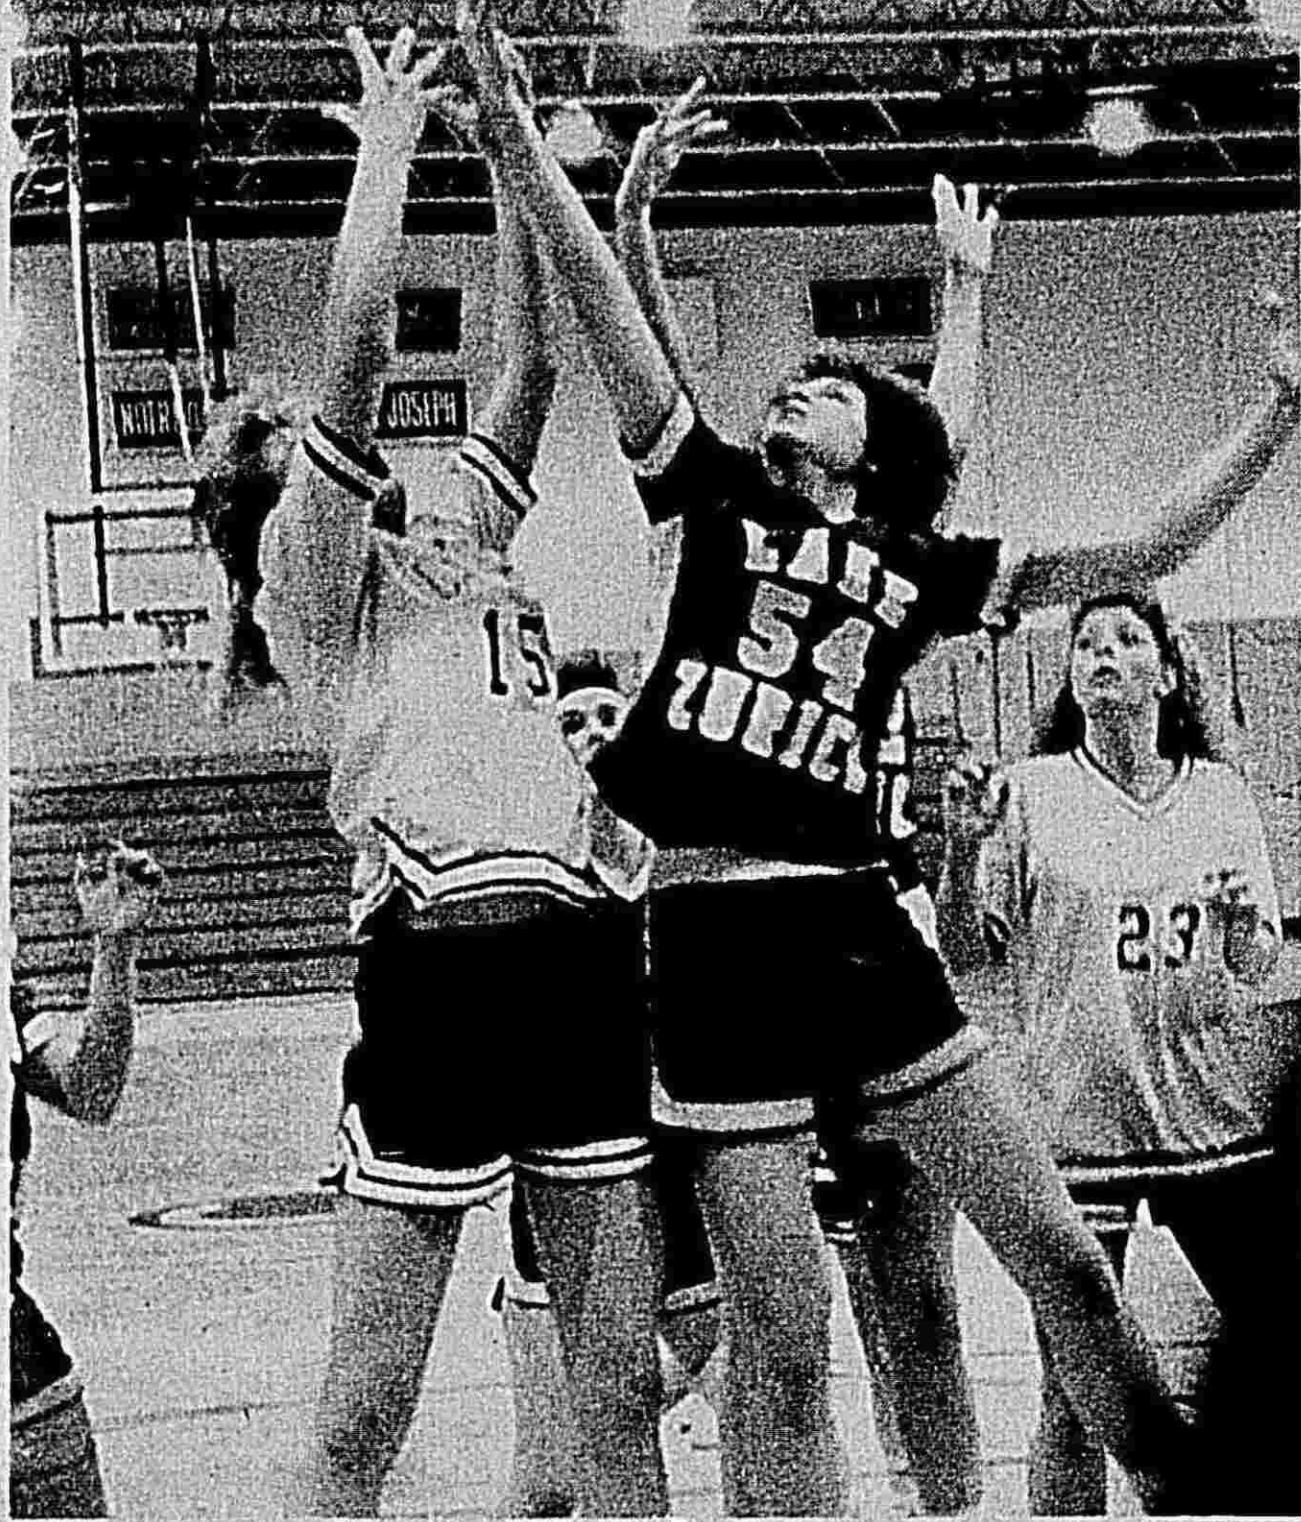

Then the Corsairs, went on a 23-8 tear between the second and third quarters which decided the contest. Lake Zurich was held to just four third-quarter points while committing nine turnovers.

Tracie Godwin, who led Carmel with 12 points, scored eight points in the third quarter. Senior Mary Marubio scored all 10 of her points in the second half, almost all off Lake Zurich miscues.

The closest the Bears got in the stanza was 21-16 when Kris Ischinger tallied. The Bears then went on a three-minute drought from the field and Carmel zoomed to an 11-point lead.

When Marubio scored on a fastbreak layup following a Lake Zurich miss, Carmel led 33-18 after three quarters.

The Bears did outscore Carmel 4-1 to start the fourth quarter and looked like they might get back into this one when Heinrich hit two free throws to cut the gap to 10.

Intense rebound battle

Carmel's Michelle Bruns, left and Lake Zurich's Laurie Heinrich battle for control of rebound during Carmel Christmas Classic game. Carmel's Kandace Zgona looks on. Carmel won game 44-29.
